

The North Carolina Atlas Revisited

<http://www.ncatlasrevisited.org>

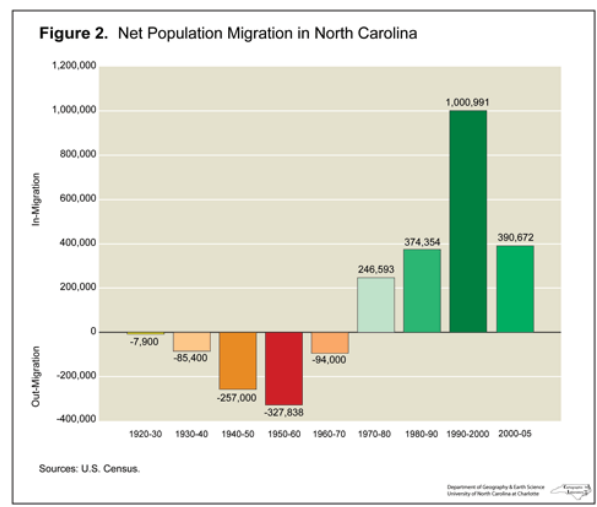

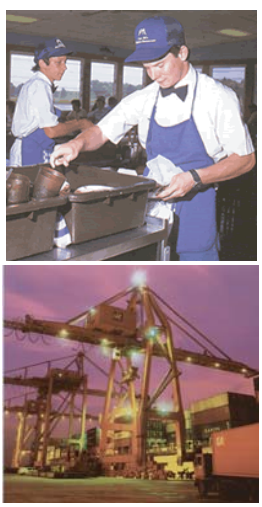

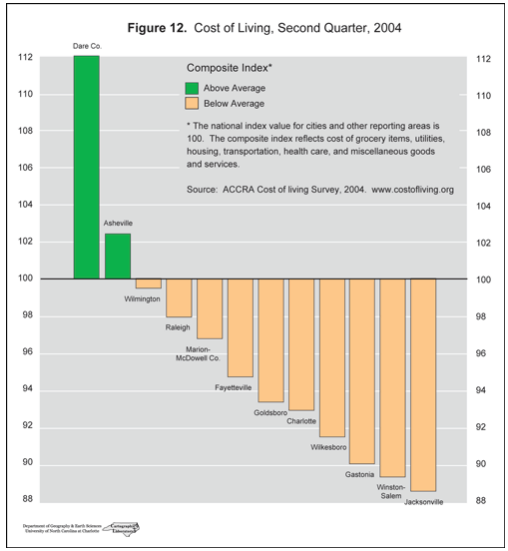

This web site offers updates of trends in the state since these trends and patterns were first portrayed in book form in The North Carolina Atlas: Portrait for a New Century, published by the UNC Press in 2000. The web site is a work in progress which will be continuously revised as new information becomes available. It is organized into chapters that include maps, charts, tables and a brief text that offers explanations of these changes and analyses of the implications of them for the people of North Carolina.

Current & Future Topics Covered on The Atlas Site

- Population
- Manufacturing
- Politics and Government
- Health and Health Care
- Air Quality
- Agriculture
- Public Education

- Retail Trade/Banking/Tourism
- Transportation
- Weather & Climate
- Crime
- Economy
- Religion
- History

The development of this web site has been made possible by generous grants from the Donor Advised Fund of the Knight Foundation and by the McColl Foundation. The project is being directed by Al Stuart, UNC Charlotte Professor Emeritus. Contact him at (704) 687-5987 or by email at <awstuart@email.uncc.edu>.